

January 20, 2011

New SFTI Access Center in Piscataway Now Live

Dear Valued Customer

We are pleased to announce our new SFTI Access Center in Piscataway, NJ is now live and fully operational. Located at DuPont Fabros Technology's (DFT) NJ1 data center facility on Possumtown Road, the Access Center offers full SFTI network services and support, including direct low latency SFTI Optic connectivity to Mahwah.

The new SFTI Access Center in Piscataway interconnects the US Liquidity Center in Mahwah, Proximity hosting site in Weehawken and network of SFTI Access Centers in New York and Chicago to offer more direct connections to markets and market information.

NYSE Technologies chose the DFT facility for its optimal location, providing proximity to multiple fiber optic communication network providers that service the greater New York and Chicago geographies.

In addition to SFTI IP services, a direct SFTI Optic link is available to NYSE colocated customers for low latency fiber connectivity from the Liquidity Center in Mahwah to the Access Center in Piscataway. For enhanced latency performance, SFTI Optic Wave services at the facility are available to our colocated customers upon request.

Please reach out to your NYSE Technologies account representative directly if you are interested in connecting to the new Access Center.

We look forward to continued expansion of your SFTI connectivity.

Sincerely,

Gerald Capaci

VP of Operations, Infrastructure Americas

Subscribe/Unsubscribe: Please click here to update your SFTI Notices mailing list preferences